RECOMMENDED READING

A number of readers expressed interest in family Loyalists who served in The New Jersey Volunteers 1777-1783 (Summer and Winter 1968 Bulletins). Many of the questions directed to your editor are answered in an article written by Paul H. Smith entitled, "New Jersey Loyalists and the British 'Provincial' Corps in the War of Independence" pgs. 69-78 of "New Jersey History" Summer 1969, a quarterly, published by The New Jersey Historical Society, 230 Broadway, Newark, N.J. 07104 (Single issued $2.50).

DUSTING UNCOVERS KNOWLEDGE

Spring housecleaning brought attention to a copy of The New American Encyclopedia published by Books, Inc., New York - Revised edition of May 1944. Not really looking for a chance to put off the chore but welcoming the excuse, your editor turned to the word GENEALOGY. It was described: "record of authentic or supposed ancestry. Old Testament writings prove ancients valued 'family trees'. Greeks and Romans enjoyed tracing heredity to gods, heroes. In the Middle Ages it was 'fashionable' to claim Trojan ancestry. Whole genealogies were 'created' in feudal time when property-inheritance depended upon them.

VOCABULARY QUIZ

Do you know what a POKAL is? On a recent tour of "The New Jersey Historical Society, your editor added a "new" word to her vocabulary. The word is German and means a glass covered goblet. In days past these were used for collecting rose petals.

A CREST OF YOUR OWN

A newspaper clipping was sent your editor by Mrs. Harold W. Adams (F) of North Lauderdale, Fla. The article reveals that Design Associates, Inc. of Minneapolis, Minn. is specially designing coat-of-arms for individual customers. The design is created on the basis of a questionnaire one fills out, including information on occupation, educational background, marital status and number of children and pets.

These crest are for "today" people and a conversation piece.

PASTORATE VACATED

The Rev. Charles L. Ziegler, Jr., pastor of Zion Lutheran Church at Long Valley, New Jersey for the past six years, left September 1st to become pastor of Our Savior Lutheran Church, Pompton Plains, New Jersey.

During his pastorate at Long Valley, the 220 year old church constructed a 42' x 88' educational wing with seven classrooms.

WHO WAS ELISABETH (c. 1722-1794),
THE WIFE OF CONRAD SCHWACHHAMMER?

About August 10, 1794, Elisabeth, the wife of Conrad Schwachhammer (c.1720-1813), died. A note entered in the Church Book of the Zion Lutheran Church, New Germantown, New Jersey, at the time of her funeral, gives the most extensive account known about this woman, who is the ancestress of a great number of those belonging to the Swackhamer Genealogical Society. The funeral notation, given here in full, affords several clues as to the identity of Elisabeth. The record was written in the Church Book by Wilhelm Graaf, minister of the Zion Church from 1775 to 1809. Written in German, however in English script, it was translated into English by Donald A. Sinclair on February 8, 1964:

Aug. 12, 1794. On this date was buried at the Valley Church Elisabeth, wife of Cunr^d Schwachhamer, (the line over the "m" designates a double "mm") Sen^r, she being of the Reformed faith. She died in her 73rd year after she had spent twenty years in a sickly state (condition) and had longed for rest. I (Wilhelm Graaf) preached in the church from Tes. (Thessalonians): 57,2. (Here follows an abbreviated German word, "Eing^dg", which is not understood) Sirach: 40, 1&2.

From this valuable entry we learn that Elisabeth was in her 73rd year, which means she was seventy-two years old at the time of her death. This would place her date of birth at about 1722. Likewise, we also learn that she was of the "Reformed faith", that is, a member of the Dutch Reformed Church. Living in close proximity with the German Lutherans of the Hunterdon County area, (where the Swackhamers resided), were many Dutchmen of the Reformed faith. It was, therefore, not too unusual that Conrad, a Lutheran, would have married Elisabeth, of the Reformed faith.

A prominent custom among both those of Dutch and German extraction was the naming of their children. The eldest son was named for his paternal grandfather, while the second boy was invariably named for his maternal grandfather. For the daughters, the reverse was usually the case, the oldest girl being named for her mother's mother, while the second daughter was named for her father's mother. The known children of Conrad and Elisabeth Schwachhammer, and the estimated year of birth for each child is as follows:

1. Samuel Schwachhammer, born about 1743
2. Fritz Schwachhammer, born about 1745
3. Henry Schwachhammer, born about 1747
4. Catharine Schwachhammer, born about 1749
5. Elisabeth Schwachhammer, born about 1751) twins
6. Anna Rosina Schwachhammer, born about 1751)
7. Conrad Schwachhammer, born November 30, 1753

Of these children, it is certain as for whom three were named: Samuel, for his Grandfather Schwachhammer, the Patriarch of our family; Elisabeth, named for her mother; and Conrad, named for his father. Considering the Dutch-German custom of child naming, the names of Elisabeth's parents would be, according to the names of her children, Fritz and Catharine.

Assuming that Elisabeth was a daughter of parents of Dutch extraction residing in the area in which Conrad was raised, she no doubt would have been baptized in one of the several Dutch Reformed Churches of the locale. In the year 1722, there were three churches of the Reformed denomination in the Somerset-Hunterdon County, New Jersey, area. A check of all those named Elisabeth (Elizabeth) baptized in the 1721-1723 period in these churches with parents possibly named Fritz and Catharine, revealed one likely to be the Swackhamer ancestress:

Church over the North Branch (Readington, Hunterdon County, New Jersey) -

DATE OF BAPTISM	PARENTS	CHILD	GODPARENTS
Dec. 16, 1722	Frans Waldron Cathelina	Elizabeth	Henderick Van Neste, Avice, his wife

The date of baptism usually occurred shortly after the baby's birth, and the year of 1722 for Elizabeth Waldron's birth nicely corresponds with Elisabeth, Conrad Swachhammer's wife's approximately date of birth. Likewise, Frans, which is a derivation of Francis, could easily have been misconstrued by the German speaking Lutherans to be Fritz, the name of Elizabeth's second son. Catharine, the name of Elisabeth Schwachhammer's first daughter, corresponds perfectly with the name of Frans Waldron's wife, who was Catharine Van Nest.

Thus was Elisabeth, who married Conrad Schwachhammer, a daughter of Frans and Catharine (Van Nest) Waldron? A search of the will of Frans Waldron "of the County of Summerset in the Eastern Division of the Province of New Jersey", made on June 13, 1764, is of no help, as he names "all my Children Named Nelthe Neiche Samuel Jerome Johanis & William". Yet his child Elisabeth, the eldest, surely must have lived as subsequent daughters would have been named for their deceased elder sister, also a prominent custom of the day. It is possible that had Elisabeth Schwachhammer been his daughter, Frans would have given her her inheritance at the time of her marriage to Conrad. The possibility exists, too, that Frans Waldron may not have approved of Elisabeth's marriage to Conrad and thus disinherited her.

There is no doubt that some obscure record still remains hidden away which would confirm Elisabeth Waldron as being the wife of Conrad Schwachhammer. However, for the moment, the correspondence of the names of Elisabeth and Conrad's children to Frans and Catharine Waldron, and the close approximation to the birth year of our Elisabeth with Elizabeth Waldron will have to suffice.

LINEAGE SUBMITTED

Mrs Robert O. Griffith (Eleanor O. Hople) of Long Valley, N.J. submitted her lineage in the form of a chart. The conclusion that she descends from Jacob Dufford and Maria Wise is based on her research of the records of the Long Valley Lutheran Church, family knowledge and Early Germans of New Jersey by T. F. Chambers. Dates were omitted on the chart.

-Eleanor O. Hople (Mrs. Robert Griffith) is the daughter of George A. Hople and Eva V. Seals. George A. Hople was the son of Jacob Isaac Hople and Amanda Kaar. Amanda Kaar was the daughter of William Kaar and Martha Sliker. William Kaar was the son of Joseph Kaar and Elizabeth Dufford. Elizabeth Dufford was the daughter of Jacob Dufford and Maria Wise.

-Following the chart we find that Eva V. Seals was the daughter of George M. Seals and Mehetible Bilby. Mehetible Bilby was the daughter of John Bilby and Delilah Sliker.

This is interesting because Delilah Sliker was the daughter of John Sliker and Mehetible Swayze. John and Mehetible Sliker were parents of: Martha; Delilah (above) Sarah Sliker who married Jacob Swackhamer.
